暑假语文阅读任务——我的阅读图谱

致亲爱的同学们:

欢迎来到今年暑假的阅读之旅!这份任务书将陪伴你度过一个充实而有意义的假期。在接下来的两个月里,你不仅要阅读,更要思考——选择一个属于自己的阅读主题,通过不同文体的作品来丈量和理解这个世界。

这不是被动地完成作业,而是主动地构建你自己的"阅读图谱"。每一本书都是一个视角,每一次思考都是一次对话。让阅读成为你成长的见证,成为你和作者、和其他读者之间的桥梁。

祝你阅读愉快!

一、前言

1. 选书要求

Silence Is Complicity: Why Education Is an Act of Resistance

By Student Name, Grade 9 Contributing Writer

The Cost of Staying Quiet

"We raise our voices not because we will be heard, but because we will not be silenced." Over 250 million children worldwide are denied access to education, and the vast majority are girls. This is not merely a statistic — it is an act of oppression, and our silence makes us complicit in its continuation.

Malala Yousafzai's I Am Malala is not simply a memoir of survival. It is a clarion call about the price of silence in the face of injustice. When the Taliban banned girls' education in Swat Valley, Pakistan, the world could have spoken. Instead, it largely remained silent — until a teenage girl refused to be voiceless. Malala's act of speaking, even at great personal risk, transformed her from a victim into a resister. Her education became an act of rebellion.

Education as Resistance

The core argument of Malala's story is radical: education is not a privilege; it is a weapon against tyranny. When authoritarian forces attempt to control populations, they first silence their voices by denying them literacy, critical thinking, and access to information. Malala understood this instinctively. By continuing to learn — by blogging, by speaking, by refusing to accept her prescribed role — she resisted her oppressors far more effectively than any physical resistance could have.

Today, this fight continues in different forms. According to UNESCO, girls in sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia face the greatest barriers to education. Some cannot attend school due to poverty; others face cultural or religious restrictions. But here is the uncomfortable truth: these barriers persist partly because the global community treats girls' education as a charitable cause rather than a fundamental right and an urgent moral imperative.

Addressing the Counterargument

Some might argue that girls' education is a "developing world problem" — one that doesn't affect us in developed nations. This is dangerously naive. When girls anywhere are denied education, the entire world loses. We lose potential scientists, leaders, activists, and changemakers. We lose the voices and talents of half of humanity. Furthermore, educational inequality fuels poverty, conflict, and instability that eventually destabilize the global order. Girls' education is not charity; it is enlightened self-interest.

The Power of Your Voice

Malala's story teaches us that speaking up matters — even when your voice shakes. We may not face the threats she faced, but we have privileges she fought for. The question is: what will we do with them?

If you are reading this, you have access to education. Use that privilege to amplify the voices of those who don't. Support organizations working to get girls into classrooms. Challenge the stereotypes in your own community. Most importantly, understand that your education is not just for yourself — it is a responsibility to the world.

Silence is complicity. Education is resistance. The choice, as Malala showed us, is ours.

Section 3 Reading Comprehension

The Road Not Taken

By Robert Frost
1916

Robert Frost (1874-1963) was an American poet whose poems often depict rural scenes from the New England countryside. "The Road Not Taken" is one of Frost's most well-known poems. As you read the poem, identify the imagery the speaker uses to describe the setting.

- [1] Two roads diverged¹ in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
[5] To where it bent in the undergrowth;²
- Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted³ wear;
Though as for that the passing there
[10] Had worn them really about the same,
- And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden⁴ black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
[15] I doubted if I should ever come back.
- I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
[20] And that has made all the difference.

1. Diverge (verb) to separate from another route or go in a different direction
2. a dense growth of shrubs and other plants, especially under trees in woodland
3. lacked
4. crushed, flattened, or walked upon

1. Using evidence from the text, explain what the "roads" symbolize in this poem.

2. How do lines 9-12 affect the meaning of the poem?

- A. The speaker admits that both roads were untraveled, revealing that the indecisive speaker never chose a road.
- B. The speaker admits that the two roads were actually similar, suggesting that one choice was not clearly better than the other.
- C. The speaker admits that the first road was actually more traveled than the second, suggesting that he made the wrong choice.
- D. The speaker admits that the two roads were actually just one, revealing that the speaker is lying about having to make a difficult choice.

3. Which statement best describes the significance of lines 13-15 on the meaning of the poem?

- A. The speaker is not worried they made the wrong choice because they can return to take the other road.
- B. The speaker is worried they took the more traveled road and will not be able to return to take the less traveled one.
- C. The speaker understands that taking one opportunity will likely prevent them from going back to take another.
- D. The speaker believes that they will be able to take all of the opportunities presented to them at some point in life.

4. Which of the following best describes a theme of the text?

- A. Sometimes one must make a choice without knowing if it will be best and live with the consequences.
- B. There will always be decisions in life, but one can return and make the decision differently if one makes a mistake.
- C. Following one's heart is easier than following one's head, but since decisions do not really matter, it is best to follow one's heart.
- D. Making the most common or popular decisions ensures that one will take the correct path through life.

5. Using evidence from the text, explain the impact of the speaker telling their story with a "sigh" in line 16.

- Use scratch paper for solving equations – especially for systems (N) and quadratics (T).
- Review the "Learn with an example" link at the top of each skill before starting.
- If a skill feels too hard, ask a parent/guardian to help or email your teacher – but try first!

Tracking Your Progress

You can print the list below and check off each skill when you hit 85%.

Deadline: Complete before school starts.

Reminder: Only scores 85% or higher count as passing.

Summer Preparation Task: Global Issue News Log

Task Overview

In Grade 10, we will begin the year by studying two important themes:

- International order and power: how countries, international organizations, companies, media, and other actors shape world events.
- Human rights and responsibility: how global issues affect people's rights, dignity, safety, and equality.

HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENT

Physical & Mental Well-Being

Preliminary Research & Concept Development

1. Purpose of This Assignment

Before designing any product or service, we must deeply understand the people we are designing for. This homework asks you to choose a real or fictional client whose life touches issues of physical and mental well-being, then research the landscape of possible solutions and propose three product or service ideas.

2. Our Client: The Person We Are Designing For

Read the profile below carefully. You will use this client as your anchor throughout the assignment.

Client Profile:
Occupation
Daily Life
Physical Health
Mental Health
Goals

3. Three Product / Service Ideas to Research

Below are three product or service directions. For each one, your job is to research the existing landscape, understand user needs, and form a preliminary point of view. The ideas are intentionally broad — part of your task is to narrow and refine them.

Idea 1:
Description
Client Profile
Research Focus

Idea 2:
---------	--

Description
Client Profile
Research Focus

Idea 3:
Description
Client Profile
Research Focus

4. What You Need to Deliver

For EACH of the three ideas above, prepare the following. Bring your responses to class — be ready to share and discuss.

4a. Research Summary (per idea)

1. Find at least 2 real existing products or services that are similar or overlapping. Name them and briefly explain what they do.
2. Identify 2–3 things existing solutions do well (from user reviews, case studies, or your own experience).
3. Identify 2–3 gaps or frustrations users have with current solutions.
4. Write one sentence about how you would position this idea differently from what already exists.

4b. Empathy Check

5. Re-read your client's profile. Write 3 specific ways this product or service meets his/her needs.
6. Write 1 honest reason the client might reject or ignore this solution.

4c. Your Preliminary Point of View

Write a short paragraph (5–8 sentences) summarising:

- What problem this idea is really solving
- Who it is best suited for
- Why now is a good time for this idea
- One big open question you still have

Good luck, and enjoy the process.
